Introduction:

The Saudi Fund for Development (SFD) is the main channel responsible for the provision of the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia's developmental assistance to developing countries with the aim of assisting those countries to implement their development projects and social economic programs in order to enhance their economy, accomplish urban prosperity, and eventually reach a balanced and comprehensive development. Accordingly, SFD was keen to allocate a considerable share of its contributions to finance several social and economic projects and programs in the MENA region. This aims at raising the level of economic activity in the MENA region countries, strengthen cooperation among them, and promote economic and social prosperity.

Believing in the importance of support provision to the MENA region countries, SFD has signed 209 loan agreements to finance 202 development projects and programs, since its inception until end of 2022, in 12 MENA region countries.
